In fact, the quickest way to burn out is to try to be all things to all people.

  - Deals comfortably with ambiguity
  - Adjusts preset plans as necessary with minimal resistance

  - Demonstrates awareness of how actions will directly and indirectly impact others
  - Listens to others attentively
  - Demonstrates regard for and sensitivity to the feelings of others

Your motivation to succeed in anything you do is determined by your underlying values. You will feel energized and successful at work when your job supports your personal values. The following are your 3 highest ranked personal values:

1. TRADITIONAL/REGULATORY

- You value traditions inherent in social structure, rules, regulations and principles.
- The highest interest for this value may be called "unity," "order," or "tradition." Individuals with high scores in this value seek a system for living. This system can be found in such things as conservatism or any authority that has defined rules, regulations and principles for living.

2. SOCIAL

- You value opportunities to be of service to others and contribute to the progress and well being of society.
- Those who score very high in this value have an inherent love of people. The social person prizes other people and is, therefore, kind, sympathetic and unselfish. They are likely to find the Theoretical, Utilitarian and Aesthetic attitudes cold and inhuman. Compared to the Individualistic value, the Social person regards helping others as the only suitable form for human relationships. Research into this value indicates that in its purest form, the Social interest is selfless.

3. INDIVIDUALISTIC/POLITICAL

- You value personal recognition, freedom and control over your own destiny and others.
- The primary interest for this value is POWER, not necessarily politics. Research studies indicate that leaders in most fields have a high power value. Since competition and struggle play a large part in all areas of life, many philosophers have seen power as the most universal and most fundamental of motives. There are, however, certain personalities in whom the desire for direct expression of this motive is uppermost; who wish, above all, for personal power, influence and renown.

Your observable behavior and related emotions contribute to your success on the job. When matched to the job, they play a large role in enhancing your performance. The following are your 3 highest ranked behavioral traits:

1. FREQUENT INTERACTION WITH OTHERS

- You prefer to interact with others rather than deal with tasks. You are able to maintain a friendly interface with others when faced with multiple interruptions on a continual basis.

2. VERSATILITY

- You are multi-talented and easily adapt to changes with a high level of optimism and a "can do" orientation.

3. URGENCY

- You are decisive and quick to respond. You are able to make on-the-spot decisions with good judgment and meet deadlines on time.

He likes feedback from his manager on how he is doing. He has a good sense of urgency. Todd places his focus on people. To him, strangers are just friends he hasn't met! He likes to get results through others. He is at his best when he has people working with him. He is optimistic and usually has a positive sense of humor. He is most likely to be at his best in situations where important things, such as values, judgments, feelings and emotions are involved. He prides himself on his "intuition."
